The Heart is a Lonely Hunter
Selected as one of Time magazine’s 100 Best English-Language novels in, The Heart is a Lonely Hunter allows secondary students to explore themes of loneliness and the human need for understanding and the search for love.

The Wretched Ones
This highly successful play written by Zimbabwean author and playwright, George Mujajati, deals with themes of unemployment, corruption, poverty, unequal distribution of wealth and land shortages. Convincing dialogue in simple sets that generates real drama makes it easy to tackle by secondary school learners.

The Haunted Trail
Michael Dengi rises from a childhood of poverty and deprivation to become a prominent and successful banker. But sketchy business practices and irresponsible sexual choices threaten to destroy his once promising future. As his carefully constructed world begins to crumble around him, what will become of him and his innocent fiancé, Chiedza? Set amidst the struggle of the HIV/AIDS pandemic, The Haunted Trail is a brilliant study of the effects the disease has on society and especially the lives of young women.

Rainbow Dreams
Zimbabwe has just gained her independence but along with the renewed sense of self-determination, the country also becomes the hunting ground of ruthless and self-serving characters. Rainbow Dreams explores the place of a young girl in this new environment.

Tindo’s Quest
For twelve years Tindo enjoyed a happy upbringing with his loving parents. When he discovers that Mummy Dorothy is not who he thinks she is, he sets off on a journey to find his birth mother. In this short but potent novel, master storyteller Shimmer Chinodya has, with characteristic versatility, created another classic about the quest of youth and fulfillment – a tale destined to delight younger and older readers alike.

Fear not my Brother
Chiyedza and Blessing are close school friends. Separated by family problems, they remain in touch through a series of letters, helping each other to overcome their difficulties. Struggling with a death in the family, neglect, crises of identity and even a kidnapping, Fear not, my Brother explores how teenagers, on the brink of adulthood, cope with problems created by adults. This book will appeal to both teenage boys and girls.
Nyathela Ngolutsha Form 1–4
The Inyathela Ngolutsha series meets the Ministry of Education’s recommendations for Ndebele for Form 1–4.

The series includes:
• a wide variety of fiction and non-fiction reading texts, carefully selected to interest students
• numerous interactive activities and regular progress tests to develop excellent reading, writing, listening and speaking skills
• beautiful illustrations in a range of styles to support the learning process
• activities and exercises designed to develop the high-level skills in analysis and critical thinking that are needed in secondary education
Longman Zimbabwe is proud to offer you a range of textbooks designed to meet the curriculum requirements for the successful mastery of Shona in our secondary schools.

Our trusted series such as Budirirai, Jekesa Pfungwa 3 and Denhe Roruzivo ensure that students receive:

- Extensive practice in the major requirements of examination such as practical criticism, comprehension, essay writing, literature and language
- Revision guides that offer all advanced Shona students the opportunity to improve examination results
Khakho ongathi kle kimi

Khakho ongathi kle kimi meaning ‘No one can tell me anything’, is an insightful work that deals sensitively with the issues around child abuse. It explores a range of excellent solutions on how to prevent it from happening. Students will gain great awareness and strength from the wisdom contained in these pages.

Zimawele

Prize-winning Ndebele author, Pathisa Nyathi, writes with such clarity and creativity that he leaves his readers yearning for more. Nyathi uses rich language in poems and totems to present the cultural norms and values of the Ndebele people. This book will be treasured by all.

Ngenzeni

Ngenzeni, meaning ‘What shall I do?’ is a remarkable book that uncovers the central issues around polygamy and intensity. It explores the devastating effects these have on family life. The author demonstrates a masterful use of language that is rich with colourful descriptions and idiom.

Nguva Yakaoma

This far-reaching novel explores a phenomenon that has received little attention in other African writing: the exodus of Zimbabweans to the United Kingdom. Zimbabweans go in search of the British pound, but do they find that the pastures are greener on the other side? Written in a captivating style, bursting with suspense and overflowing with fresh expressions, students will find this novel enlightening and a pleasure to read.
